

THEOLOGICAL AND TRAINING SCHOOL

SIX MONTHS SESSION TO BE OPENED—ALL EAGER FOR OPENING—DATES ARE JUNE 24
TO JULY 22.

Before the announcement of the fact, the demand for such an opportunity was so strong and persistent, which, together with our desire and purpose to do something to meet the crying need of the hour, is the sum total of our apology for offering emanicipation from the mental serfdom which handicaps the Baptist ministry and laity of Tennessee.

EAGER FOR THE OPENING.

Criticism and pessimism seem to have been routed by the energizing power of a larger vision and a determination to prepare for greater service in the Master's vineyard. "Study to show thyself a workman that needeth not to be ashamed." is the slogan of the pastors and ministers whose call to service preceded their completion of preparation from a literary standpoint. Sunday school superintendents and teachers whose services have been marked with consecration and deep devotion, but who now feel called upon by those same virtues to prepare to cope with the trained minds of the young people and children from our public schools, presidents and officers of our B. Y. P. U.'s missionary work, in fact, the Baptists generally, are not asking about the teachers of instructors, but the main question is: When will the school open? Who has been set for Monday, June 2, 1918. Just after the Sunday School Congress, we hope to have the presence and service of Prof. David Abner.

For further information, watch The Nashville Globe, or write J. L. Harrell, Secretary, Committee on Education, 714 Jefferson Street, Nashville, Tenn.

Miss Nannie H. Burroughs, president of the National Training School for Women and Girls, has been scoring heavily with large audiences at Louisville, Nashville and Memphis. These strategic centers she has discussed the lynching evil without gloves and has aroused all hearers to a keen sense of the danger that mob violence represents to the American Republic. Miss Burroughs will make a tremendous drive to have Congress pass the Dyer bill to make lynching a federal crime.

*****

About fifty capable colored women are employed on the cleaning force in the Union Station and they are anxious to give as good a degree of satisfaction as the men formerly engaged in the work.

*****

Miss Estella Coffey, a fashionable modiste, and Mr. Fred Carey, of Boston, were married recently.

*****

Mrs. Annie Lawrence Lucas, a brilliant poetess and playwright, is planning to reproduce her stirring, emotional drama, "Her Silent Power," which created such a furore last Spring.

The cadets of the colored high school will hold their annual competition

The Naval Reserve announces the need of colored men as mess attendants and states that the place pays well and offers excellent chances for advancement. Firemen are also needed. Names of applicants may be sent to the United States Employment Service, 1410 Pennsylvania Avenue, W. Washington, D. C. Among the trusted attaches of this office is Alvin H. Underwood, who is now in business as a caterer and for years superintendent of the Howard Park playgrounds.

* * * *

The 12th Street Branch of the M. C. A., under the supervision of John W. Davis, is making a "drive" for 1,000 members, with a prospect of bringing in the desired number.

W. Rutherford is general chairman of the campaign committee and R. Hamilton is director. J. P. Bond and E. Porter are acting leaders, while J. C. Rutledge is secretary and assistant.

Each team is to secure fifty or more members.

* * *

The colored business men are working up to the fact that the 1918 meeting of the National Business League is to be held August 21, 22 and 23 at Atlantic City and the indications are the many will be in attendance. President J. C. Napier and Secretary Emmett J. Scott are making up an attractive Program.

For further information, watch THE NASHVILLE GLOBE, or write J. L. HAR

Miss Nannie H. Burroughs, president of the National Training School for Women and Girls, has been scoring heavily with large audiences at Louisville, Nashville and Memphis. In these strategic centers she has discussed the lynching evil without gloves and has aroused all hearers.

violence represents to the American Republic. Miss Burroughs will make a tremendous drive to have Congress pass that Dyer bill to make lynching a federal crime.

* * *

About fifty capable colored women are employed on the cleaning force of the Union Station and they are
to give as great a degree of satisfaction as the men formerly engaged in the work.

* * *

Miss Estella Coffey, a fashionable modiste, and Mr. Fred Carr, of Botomet, were married recently.

* * *

Mrs. Annie Lawrence Lucas, a planning poetess and playwright, planning to reproduce her stirring emotional drama, "He Silent Power," which created such a furore last spring
at Pythian Hall.

* * *

The cadets of the colored high school

6. It is expected that six companies will compete for the prize.

- The Caval Reserve announces the need of colored men as mess attendants and states that the place pays well and offers excellent chances for advancement. Firemen are also needed. Names of applicants may be secured from W. H. Smith, Employment Service, 7140 Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D. C. Among the trusted attaches of this office is Alvin H. Underwood, well-known in business circles as a caterer and for years superintendent of the Howard Park playgrounds.
- * * *
- The 12th Street Branch of the M. C. A., under the supervision of John W. Davis, is making a "drive" for 1,000 members. The branch is located at 12th and R streets, N. W. Rutherford is general chairman of the campaign committee and Bond Hamilton is director. J. P. Bond and no, many team captains as assistants.

Each team is to secure fifty or more members.

The colored business men are waking up to the fact that the 1918 meeting of the National Business League is to be held August 21, 22 and 23 at Atlantic City and the indications are the many will be in attendance. President J. C. Napier and Secretary Emmett J. Scott are making up an attractive Program.